

Click Here

One of the most revered writings in Hindu philosophy, the Bhagavad Gita, offers timeless wisdom that transcends centuries and cultures. When Lord Krishna shared its lessons with Prince Arjuna on the battlefield of Kurukshetra, thousands of years ago, they remain as relevant today. For students grappling with academic and personal struggles, the Gita provides invaluable guidance. Reminding us that perseverance, determination, and the right attitude are key to overcoming challenges, these 10 verses offer strength, inspiration, and motivation. To those who are devoted and worship me with love, I provide understanding by which they can come to me. Whenever there is a fall in righteousness and a rising in wickedness, I manifest myself on Earth. The cosmos will reward those who stick to their values even if the chances appear against them. To protect the righteous, I emerge century after millennia to defend the good, destroy the evil, and restore the Dharma's ideals. When you dedicate yourself fully to your studies, just as devotees dedicate themselves to their spiritual practice, the universe aligns to support your efforts. Whatever you do, whatever you eat, whatever you offer in sacrifice, whatever you give in charity, and whatever austerities you perform, do that as an offering unto me. Just surrender to the ultimate power, as all forms of spirituality are a part of it. It will free you from all sorts of sinful emotions. Don't worry about anything. This sloka is an invitation to complete faith in the divine process and surrender. For students, it means relying on their education journey. Sometimes, despite our best efforts, things don't go as expected. At such moments, instead of losing hope or giving up, accept the situation knowing that every event, good or bad, shapes your growth. Let go of your fear of failing and trust in yourself, your professors, and the educational process. I am present within you, just like I'm seated in the hearts of all living beings. I am the beginning, middle, and end of everything. This sloka emphasizes that God is everywhere and in every being. For students, it reminds them of their inner strength and potential. Remember that the core of the universe is inside you, no matter what challenges you face. Through tough tests, difficult courses, and stressful situations, this inner divinity can help you navigate. You're never alone; the holy presence within you provides continuous inspiration and support. The living entities in this world are my eternal fragments. Due to our conditioned life, we struggle hard with our six senses, including the mind. This line acknowledges the difficulties of human life, including the daily challenges students face. Though they're inevitable in life, obstacles also present opportunities for personal growth. Recognize that every difficulty offers a chance to access your inner power and resilience; they're aspects of the human experience. Remember that you're part of something greater while facing academic demands; your struggles are not in vain; they're helping you grow into a better, smarter person. In conclusion, the Bhagavad Gita provides profound insights relevant to students. It teaches us that perseverance, dedication, and the right mindset are key to overcoming any obstacle. When you face difficult times, whether it's exam stress, uncertainty about the future, or personal challenges, these slokas can serve as a guiding light. Remember, every step brings you closer to your goals - never give up. The Telangana State Law Common Entrance Test (TG LAW CET) and Postgraduate Law Common Entrance Test (TG PGL CET) application submission is open till 15 April 2025 without late fee. The registration started from 1 March 2025. This year, the exams will be conducted online on a computer-based format with multiple-choice questions. The TG LAW CET is for undergraduate law courses, while the TG PGL CET is for postgraduate law courses. Candidates can apply for either exam, but they must meet specific eligibility criteria. To apply for TG LAW CET, candidates must have passed plus two in any stream from a recognized educational institution. For TG PGL CET, students who have completed graduate law courses are eligible to register. The application submission deadlines with late fees are as follows: 15 April 2025 (no late fee), 25 April 2025 (late fee of Rs 500), 5 May 2025 (late fee of Rs 1000), and 15 May 2025 (late fee payment of Rs 2000). The exams will be conducted on 6 June 2025, with preliminary key out on 10 June 2025 and results announced on 25 June 2025. Osmania University will conduct the exams on behalf of Telangana State Council for Higher Education (TSCHE). Candidates must score minimum qualifying marks (cutoff scores) to be eligible for further process. The full name of TG LAW CET is Telangana State Law Common Entrance Test, and TG PGL CET is Telangana State PG Law Common Entrance Test. The further process involves counselling and document verification. Given article text here 2025: Telangana and Andhra Pradesh Law CET Registration Requirements To register for TG LAW CET/PGL CET 2025, candidates must be natives of either state. They need to meet the local/non-local status requirements as outlined in the Telangana/Andhra Pradesh Education Institutions (Admission Regulations) order, 1974, which has been amended since then. The online application process for TG LAW CET/PGL CET 2025 is available on the official website at . To access it, enter the URL into your browser and download the website. Once the webpage loads, candidates can click the required link to pay registration fees and obtain a confirmation number. After obtaining the confirmation number, applicants can submit their application form by filling out all the necessary information. Those seeking graduate law course admission should apply for TS LAW CET 2025, while those aiming for postgraduate law course admission should apply for TG PGL CET 2025. The completed application must be submitted online, and upon successful submission, candidates will receive a confirmation message with details to download their hall ticket. The link for TG LAW CET/PGL CET 2025 application submission can be found here. Hall tickets will become available for download from May 30, 2025. Students who have successfully completed their registration alone can download their hall tickets. On June 6, 2025, students must appear for the tests and secure the required qualifying marks to be eligible for counselling and document verification. The results of TS LAW CET/PGL CET will be displayed on the official website in due course. Students who pass the exams with the required qualifying marks can proceed with further admission processes. Those who secure a seat in their preferred course must convey acceptance, pay fees, and join classes. For more information, candidates can visit the official website of the exam or that of participating institutions.

Famous geeta shlok with meaning. Shlok of bhagwat geeta in english. Geeta shlok for students in sanskrit. Shrimad bhagwat geeta shlok with meaning in hindi. Famous geeta shlok in english. Learn bhagwat geeta shlok. Geeta shlok with meaning in english. Geeta shlok for students in english.